Our History

DAN NAGLE WALNUT GROVE PIONEER VILLAGE

Walnut Grove was a Scott County cross-roads settlement and a stage coach stop of the 1860's. The Village features 19 historic buildings. Original to the site is the Butler #2 School built in 1870, the Ehler Family House and Blacksmith Shop. Relocated from rural Scott County are the cabins, Olde St. Ann's Church, Donahue Depot, Dixon Telephone office, and McCausland Firehouse. Special events feature period re-enactors demonstrating pioneer life, folk art, and maybe even an old-fashioned western shoot-out. Special events are listed at: www.scottcountyiowa.com/conservation.

Olde St. Ann's Church (c.1858) It is called the Crowning Jewel of the Village and has been restored to the 1870 period. It continues to provide a beautiful setting for weddings and other special occasions year round. This church was moved from just two miles west of here in 1985.

Walnut Grove Bank (c.1890) Features 1890 teller windows and a free standing safe from the former German Savings Bank in Eldridge, Iowa. Visit during our special event weekends and you may see an "old west" bank robbery re-enactment!

The Donahue Train Depot (c.1870) was moved in 1978 and restored. The Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy caboose was moved from Galesburg, IL, and the train engine Bingo was formally used in the yard at Case Manufacturing in Bettendorf, IA.

Our Walnut Grove Soda Fountain Shop is open Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays from 11-6, Memorial Day through Labor Day. You can enjoy a banana split, an old time ice cream soda, sundae, ice cream cone, pop corn or old fashioned candy.

BUFFALO BILL CODY HOMESTEAD

The boyhood home of Buffalo Bill Cody, Government Scout and Wild West Showman, is located in the broad valley of the Wapsi River, a short 20 minute drive from I-80. The 1847 farmhouse, entered in the National Registry of Historic Places, was built by Isaac Cody, Buffalo Bill's father, of native limestone and contains walnut floors and trim. The Homestead has been restored and furnished with items typical of the mid-19th century. Cody Homestead is nestled in scenic hillside overlooking the rich Iowa prairie.

Cody Homestead Living Room The living room of the Cody portion of the Cody-McCausland House is a simple, country, late Empire, early Victorian room. The carpeting is hand-woven from rags, and laid wall-to-wall, which was typical of the period. The Galena daybed is covered with a hand-woven fabric and has two round bolsters.

Cody McCausland Bedroom is part of the frame construction that was added to the limestone building by the McCauslands, who were the owners after the Cody family left Iowa.
