

Food Training

FDA Food Code 2-102.12 requires that the person in charge of a food establishment be a certified food protection manager (CFPM) who has shown proficiency of required information through passing a test that is part of an accredited program.

These courses all meet the training requirement for Iowa's home food processing establishments (HFPEs).

ANSI-Accredited Certified Food Protection Manager (CFPM) Training

Designed for commercial food-service operations, these courses also meet the training requirement for Iowa's home food processing establishments (HFPEs).
